Raymond,

After 30 years protecting Sarasota County as a Sergeant with the Sarasota Police Department, I'm not done fighting for the community I call home.

Property taxes keep climbing. Developers keep getting their way. And too many of our neighbors are being priced out of the place they've called home for decades.

That's not the Sarasota County I served, and it's not the one I'm willing to leave to my grandkids. I'm running for County Commission, and here is what you can count on me to accomplish:

Standing up to overdevelopment. Sarasota County's quality of life isn't something we hand over to out-of-town developers and data-center investors. As Commissioner, I'll ensure our economy prospers while also preserving the character that makes this place worth fighting for.

Lowering property taxes and making Sarasota affordable again. As a former Realtor and mortgage loan officer, I've sat across the table from families, retirees, veterans, and first-time homebuyers trying to make the numbers work. As Commissioner, I'll keep government efficient, eliminate waste, and stop bureaucrats from hiking your property taxes year after year.

Standing with law enforcement and bolstering public safety. I wore the uniform for 30 years. I know what our deputies, first responders, and corrections officers need to do their critical jobs. As Commissioner, I'll make sure our public-safety community is fully funded, fully equipped, and never short-changed for pet projects at the County building.

This is a grassroots campaign, and that means I need you with me.

Thank you for standing with us.

For Sarasota,

Jim DeNiro

Donna,

30 Years of Service. A Lifetime of Leadership.

For 30 years, Jim DeNiro answered the call to protect and serve our community - and for Jim, duty never ended when he clocked out. He didn't just put in the time. He rose through the ranks, earning promotion after promotion until he was trusted to lead and supervise some of law enforcement's most demanding high-liability divisions - assignments where lives are on the line and there's no room for error.

While off duty having lunch in 2002, Jim recognized a serial bank robber wanted by law enforcement. Without a second thought, he gave chase, caught the suspect, and put him in cuffs before he could strike again. That fearless action earned him the Sarasota Police Department's Distinguished Service Award and an official Proclamation from the City of Sarasota Commission.

That's just one chapter of a decorated 30-year career. Jim earned recognition again and again, including special honors for creating a groundbreaking diversion program that offered a lifeline to victims of human trafficking.

That same commitment to law enforcement and service has earned Jim the endorsements of the Police Benevolent Association (PBA) and the National Association of Police Organizations (NAPO) - the men and women who know the job best, standing behind one of their own.

For three decades, Jim DeNiro was trusted to protect you while you slept. Now he's asking you to trust him to protect the future of our county. When it comes to public safety, leadership, and serving Sarasota, Jim DeNiro doesn't just talk the talk. He walks the walk.

Thank you for standing with us.

Donna,

Happy Independence Day from Sarasota County. This Fourth of July is one for the history books, because America is turning 250 years old.

I spent thirty years as a police sergeant, so I have a particular appreciation for this day. The freedom we celebrate is protected by people willing to put on a uniform and defend law-abiding citizens, whether on a battlefield overseas or a street corner here at home. I have seen that sacrifice up close, and I will never take it for granted.

I am not a politician. I am running for the County Commission because I believe Sarasota deserves leaders who will guard your tax dollars, keep our community safe, and protect our natural beauty from rampant overdevelopment.

Two hundred and fifty years in, the American promise still depends on regular people willing to serve. This weekend, I will be thinking of the officers and service members who did not make it home - the ones who gave everything for neighbors they would never meet.

Enjoy the fireworks, thank a Veteran, an officer, a first responder, and all those working this weekend to keep our communities safe. Celebrate the country we are lucky to call ours.

Happy birthday, America!

Sincerely,

Jim DeNiro

Friend,

I want to make sure you see this breaking news.

My opponent, Joe Neunder, donated to Hillary Clinton while Donald Trump was on the ballot.

Now he wants Sarasota Republicans to believe he is the MAGA conservative in this race. But voters deserve to know the truth before they cast their ballot.

Can we trust him? Read the truth for yourself.

Joe Neunder Supported Hillary Clinton Over Donald Trump

Florida Politics reports on the paper trail Sarasota Republicans deserve to see. Florida Politics reported that Federal Election Commission filings show Joe Neunder gave $2,700 to the Hillary Victory Fund in 2016 while Donald Trump was on the ballot.

Sarasota County Republicans should not have to wonder where a candidate stood when it mattered. They deserve the facts. Read the full article below.

I'm a proud, 100% Pro-Trump Conservative, and I look forward to fighting back against big developers and making our communities affordable again on the Sarasota County Commission. I hope I have your support.

Donna,

I entered this race because Sarasota County deserves honest, accountable leadership, and elected officials who betray the values they campaign on should not be rewarded with another term.

County Commissioner Joe Neunder claims the MAGA mantle after supporting Hillary Clinton, warns about developers while developers finance his political operation, and calls himself a fiscal conservative after voting for the largest budget in county history.

I hope you'll take one minute to watch this movie trailer, consider the record, and help us write a different ending for Sarasota County.
